The Castle – Sonora, California

Validation of Ownership and Exposure of Systemic Fraud

Richard the Living Strmiska

Dated: September 5, 2025

Exhibit 1: Osborne Homes Call – September 5, 2025

- Richard truthfully stated: "I have no mortgage." - Osborne Homes ran internal checks: no mortgage, lien, or encumbrance found. - They extended a cash offer of $265,000, confirming they recognized Richard as owner free of debt.

Exhibit 2: Zillow – Outdated Data

- Zestimate: $268,379. - Shows 2013 photos and reduced lot size (1.5 acres). - Osborne's lowball offer clearly based on this outdated dataset.

Exhibit 3: Realtor.com – Updated Data

- Current valuation: ~$531,000. - Lot size corrected to 2.5 acres. - Demonstrates Zillow's valuation is undervalued by nearly half.

Exhibit 4: Homes.com – Smoking Gun

- Valuation range: $445,000 – $614,000. - Fresh photos (taken weeks ago) syndicated through their system. - Ownership history explicitly lists: “Strmiska Richard G – May 2013 to Present.” - Independent public confirmation of Richard as the current titled owner.

Exhibit 5: The Absurdity of Valuation – Wake Up Call

The same property is valued at wildly different amounts depending on the platform: - Zillow: $268,379. - Realtor.com: ~$531,000. - Homes.com: $445,000 – $614,000. Conclusion: Such discrepancies prove the system is broken and manipulated. If value itself shifts by hundreds of thousands of dollars across corporate platforms, the foundation of the mortgage/lending system cannot be trusted.

Exhibit 6: Fabricated Ownership Record – VA Loan Contradiction

Source: Homes.com Ownership Details Page. - Entry shows: "Sold by Strmiska Renee → Bought by Strmiska Richard G" on May 8, 2013. - Mortgage type: "Stand Alone Second." - Original Mortgage: $85,000. - Yet also states: "Current Owner: Strmiska Richard G (May 2013 – Present)." Reality: - Property purchased using a VA loan, Richard the Living Strmiska sole owner since 2013. - No transfer of ownership from Renee Strmiska ever occurred. - The May 2013 transaction was a refinance, not a sale. Fraud: - Database misrepresented a refinance as if it were a sale. - Creates false ownership chain, disguises debt products as title transfers. - Conflicts with VA loan truth of continuous sole ownership. Conclusion: Direct evidence of systemic fraud. Homes.com's record proves databases rewrite financial instruments as property transfers, corrupting ownership history and exposing the false foundation of the corporate system.

Conclusion & Alignment

- County records show no active mortgage or lien. - Osborne's system confirmed no mortgage or lien. - Realtor.com and Homes.com confirm valuations far above Osborne's offer. - Homes.com confirms Richard's ownership since 2013. The system itself validates what was already known: Richard the Living Strmiska is the rightful owner of the castle in Sonora, California — free of mortgage, free of encumbrance.
